FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Intercomp's Platform Aircraft Scales Earn UKCA Certification

Intercomp, a global leader in digital platform scales for aircraft, proudly announces the UKCA certification for its platform aircraft scales. The UKCA mark, a crucial development after the separation from the EU, replaces the CE mark for products intended for the UK market. The certified models include AC40-LP™, AC15-LP™, AC60-LP™, and AC30-60™, signifying compliance with the United Kingdom's official requirements.

“This endorsement underscores Intercomp's commitment to meeting the evolving regulatory landscape,” explains Mark Browne, Compliance Officer at Intercomp. “The certification ensures that Intercomp's digital aviation platform scales adhere to the stringent safety standards mandated by the UK, reinforcing the company's dedication to providing the highest quality products.”

Intercomp's portable aircraft platform scales, known for their simplicity, accuracy, and portability, have gained recognition globally. These scales offer dependable weight data for various aircraft types, ranging from UAVs to the world's largest commercial planes. The ease of operation, transport, and storage make Intercomp's digital aviation platform scales a preferred choice for airframe manufacturers, airlines, MROs, and militaries.

Intercomp takes pride in manufacturing all its aircraft weighing systems with GaugeSense™ strain gauge load cell technology. This technology, derived from NTEP and OIML certified components, ensures unparalleled accuracy, repeatability, and durability in load-sensing applications. The trust placed in Intercomp's systems by industry leaders worldwide highlights their position as the most widely used fully electronic aircraft weighing equipment.

As Intercomp continues to uphold its reputation for robust and reliable aircraft weighing solutions, the UKCA certification reinforces the company's commitment to meeting and exceeding regulatory expectations, ensuring the safety and compliance of its products in the UK market.
